The STATIONS OF THE CROSS or the Way of the Cross, also known as the Way of Sorrows or the Via Crucis, refers to a series of 14 images depicting Jesus Christ on the day of his crucifixion. The stations grew out of imitations of Via Dolorosa in Jerusalem which is believed to be the actual path Jesus walked to Mount Calvary.

The Stations of the Cross are often found in churches as a series of 14 small icons or images and are most commonly prayed during Lent and especially on Good Friday, the day of the year upon which the events actually occurred. The 14 devotions, or stations, focus on specific events of Jesus's the last day, beginning with His condemnation. The stations are often used as a mini pilgrimage as the individual moves from station to station. At each station, the individual recalls and meditates on a specific event from Christ's last day. Specific prayers are recited, then the individual moves to the next station until all 14 are complete.

The Stations may be of stone, wood, or metal, sculptured or carved, or they may be merely paintings or engravings. They are usually ranged at intervals around the walls of a church, though sometimes they are to be found in the open air, especially on roads leading to a church or shrine. The erection and use of the Stations did not become at all general before the end of the seventeenth century, but they are now to be found in almost every church. Formerly their number varied considerably in different places but fourteen are now prescribed by authority. They are as follows:

- I. Christ condemned to death ;
- II. the cross is laid upon him;
- III. His first fall;
- IV. He meets His Blessed Mother;
- V. Simon of Cyrene is made to bear the cross;
- VI. Christ's face is wiped by Veronica;
- VII. His second fall;
- VIII. He meets the women of Jerusalem ;
- IX. His third fall;
- X. He is stripped of His garments;
- XI. His crucifixion;
- XII. His death on the cross;
- XIII. His body is taken down from the cross; and
- XIV. laid in the tomb.

The object of the Stations is to help the faithful to make in spirit, as it were, a pilgrimage to the chief scenes of Christ's sufferings and death, and this has become one of the most popular of Catholic devotions. It is carried out by passing from Station to Station, with certain prayers at each and devout meditation on the various incidents in turn. It is very usual, when the devotion is performed publicly, to sing a stanza of the "Stabat Mater" while passing from one Station to the next.
